Old-Timer Passes In James Smith

The death of James Smith, which occurred at the Holy Cross hospital, Calgary, on Friday, March 27th, removes another old-timer from this district. The deceased, who was in his 71st year, homesteaded east of Champion in 1905 and has resided here continuously ever since. He had previously been a resident of Minnesota, Montana and British Columbia before settling in this district. He was taken ill last fall and finally was taken to the hospital for an operation. From this he never completely rallied and his final demise was not unexpected. During his long residence here he had made hosts of friends who will mourn his removal. He was unmarried and leaves a sister at Mallorytown, Ont., his boyhood home, a twin brother and a sister at Schenectady, N.Y., and a brother in New Jersey.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, service being held in the Catholic church and the remains laid at rest in the Catholic cemetery.

Tennis Club Is Organized

On Friday, March 27th, the annual meeting of the tennis club was held in the United church, with a good attendance. Election of officers for 1931 resulted as follows:
President, Rev. P. Dawson.
Sec. Treas., Harold Stephenson.

Convener of Grounds Committee, J. D. Henderson.
Draw Committee, A. Anderson, G. A. Orr and R. Maxwell.
The subject of fees for the year was discussed and it was decided they would be as follows: Gentlemen, $2.00; ladies, $1.00; school children, 50 cents.
A schedule of rules and regulations will be drawn up and posted. This must be strictly adhered to.

The holding of a local tournament was then brought up and everybody favored starting the season with a local tournament in which everyone who wished to play tennis during the season would be invited to take part.

Health Lecturer Here April 10th

Miss A. Conroy R.N. of the Provincial Dept. of Health will be in Champion on Friday, April 10th and will lecture on "Immunization" at 2 o'clock in the United church. The public are cordially invited to attend this lecture which is free to all.

Farmers of the Fairmeade Saskatchewan district are given the opportunity of securing a small supply of Reward wheat for the purpose of preparing to enter the competitive classes at the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference at Regina in 1932. George Avery, prominent grain grower of Kelso, offers one peck of his best Reward wheat (sufficient to sow a quarter of an acre) to any farmer of the district who wishes to compete at the international grain exhibition at Regina in 1932.

Actually filmed in the Wonder Isles of the South Seas, this tale of primitive passions clashing with the white man's ruthless power, comes now as a Novaro's finest romantic vehicle since "Ben Hur."

The plot developed some very humorous situations which were taken full advantage of by the players, to the delight of the audience.

You and the church are interdependent. Without the church, your community would degenerate into a materialistic group of selfish individuals. It is the church that provides a background of ideals, and unity of purpose. The church is at the source of countless benefits that you take for granted and enjoy daily. Without your support, in turn, the church would cease to exist. Your duty to the church, therefore, and to your fellows, yourself and your God, is to give your support by regular attendance. Come to church Sunday.

Mr. Ledgerwood received word of the death of his brother John at Conrad Montana. The deceased was 82 years of age and was one of the pioneer contractors of the Jim Hill Great Northern Railroad through Montana, where he has lived continuously for over 50 years. Many will remember his visit here for 10 days last summer.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Duties on sugar, gasoline and automobiles, the latter by raising the valuation for duty purposes, have been imposed. It is assumed these three industries will flourish in consequence.

Premier Mussolini, in opening the wheat conference in Rome, expressed the opinion that it was too early to suggest curtailment of wheat acreage. The United States, however, are moving in that direction and it is stated a reduction of 17 per cent will be made this year.

Uncertainties as to the future action of the United States farm board with reference to the wheat held by that organization has caused a weakness in prices which will likely extend until definite indication of their intention is available.

Just when everyone was ready for spring we had the most seasonable winter weather the winter months have provided. The weather seems to turn out exactly contrary to what is generally expected, a statement to which the curlers will subscribe.

It is surprising the comparisons that are used to justify actions on the part of governments and individuals. Where objections are raised to government measures the objectors are crushed with the fact that the Liberals or Conservatives favored the same kind of legislation ten years ago. The Pool sold their grain in an orderly manner because the private companies also made the mistake of holding their grain and lost money, the only difference being that the companies lost their own money while the Pool lost the farmers' money. Individuals held their wheat and bought options because the grain companies and the Pool were holding wheat and buying options, but it is noticeable the government did not come to their rescue, although it is a mystery why they were not as much entitled to government support as the Pool. We must build roads because they have built roads in the States, even if the farmers are driven off their land by taxation. Government services cannot be lessened nor the salaries of the ministers or seasonal indemnities, but the day laborer or the gravel hauler does his work for anything he can get, which is usually as little as possible. He is in a different category to the "highly trained" government official, even if the government official is newly graduated off a farm or from some other capacity in which he was likely a failure.

To those who can remember a season before the war when the dignity and nobility of human endeavor were in themselves fighting faith, this cynicism of today, its disdain of common people, its hatred of idealism, its fierce determination to gratify its own appetites at whatever cost to others—this blatant and brazen moral bankruptcy is a revolting spectacle.—Boston Globe.

Farmers in the state of Washington have been awarded $350,000 for damage done by sulphur fumes from the plant of a Canadian smelter company. And with agriculture in its present condition the Washington farmers might be willing to have the concern across the border smoke them up again.—Boston Transcript.

King Tut Wheat
Real Gold Brick

Inquiries have been made at the University regarding King Tut wheat, which is supposed to have come from the tomb of Tutankhamen at Luxor, Egypt. It might be frankly stated that this is pure "bunk." There is not the slightest possibility of such ancient wheat germinating today. This King Tut wheat is nothing more than a revival of the old swindle game of selling undesirable wheat, together with much misinformation, to unsuspecting farmers. The wheat is usually known as Egyptian, and belongs to the class Triticum Turgidum. In the seed trade it is sometimes sold as Alaska, Miracle, Seven-Headed, Egyptian Wonder, and now as King Tut. Every few years some unscrupulous individuals seem to revive the old variety under a new name, and sell it at exorbitant prices. Egyptian wheat is easily distinguished by its branched head. This character gives it the appearance of being very productive, but as a matter of fact it does not yield as well the commonly grown varieties of good bread wheats. It is of very poor milling and baking quality, for bread-making it is very undesirable. If Egyptian wheat or any other wheats of the same type were grown to any extent in Alberta it would have a most depressing effect on both the local and foreign markets. Our export grain containing mixtures of such varieties would have lower milling and baking qualities, as well as commercial grade. High and uniform quality in Canadian export grain is now more necessary than ever since the struggle in the world grain markets grows more severe every year.

Northwest States
Reducing Acreage

Minneapolis, Minn.—Farmers in the Northwest, after a season of record low prices, plan to raise considerably less wheat this year, early crop reports show, says the Minneapolis Journal of Sunday. One comprehensive survey, that by the Cargill Grain Company, was completed last night. Throughout the entire area, correspondents of the Cargill crop bulletin are sending in reports of spring wheat acreage reductions, ranging from 2 per cent in some localities to 30 per cent in others. In durum raising areas the reduction is equally pronounced. Virtually all correspondents report winter wheat in good condition in many cases above average. Abandonment of winter wheat acreage this year is the smallest on record, the bulletin says, only a few scattered points reporting any winter killing.—Seattle Grain Report.

Wife—To-morrow is the tenth anniversary of our wedding. Shall I kill the turkey?

Husband—Why, the poor bird is not to blame for it.

Preventing Smut
In Grain

An experimental Farms Note, signed by W. F. Hanna, of the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory, Winnipeg says: If wheat is apparently clean or is only slightly contaminated with smut spores, but contains no bunt balls, copper carbonate dust applied at the rate of 2 ounces per bushel will prove to be a satisfactory treatment. This dust must always be applied with a dusting machine. If the grain is free of bunt balls but heavily "tagged" it should be given the formalin "sprinkle" treatment or be run through one of the formalin "floaters" machines, and covered for at least 4 hours. Seed wheat which contains bunt balls should be poured slowly into a tank of formalin solution or through a "floater" treating machine as described for barley and then covered for the 4 hours. This treatment will remove or destroy the majority of the bunt balls and prevent the grain becoming contaminated again as it passes through the seed drill. Formalin is recommended for oats and barley.

Why France Is Economically Strong

Trying to ferret out the reason why France, of all the major nations, has no unemployment, is an inspiring 3,000,000 allies to work in her fields, mines and factories, Freeman Tilden writes in the World's Work on "Why France Is the Top-Dog."

All the chimneys of French factories are smoking. Portuguese workers have been inspired in droves to supply the shortage of labor. Italians armed with picks and shovels follow Napoleon's trail over the Alps, in reverse order. Three hundred thousand Poles were given jobs last year. There are no doles, no Communists, no bread lines.

The findings run something like this: Frenchmen are born makers. They waste nothing. They know how to stretch French paper to make the two ends meet. Nothing is wasted.

For does this mean that they have poor food. They furnish the chefs of the world. They dress shabbily. They dress the world. But they dress themselves first.

They buy for cash. They pay down in full for real estate. Not many know what call money is. Margins are on printed pages only. High-powered salesmen are an American institution. French cars seldom wear out carrying heavy mortgages abroad.

Employees get good wages. The economists purchase at wholesale prices. Railway employees even get their coal and household supplies for a third what others pay outside of the economy. Companies do not exploit or commercialize their help.

The Frenchman hardly knows what a robot is. Almost everything is hand made. A country that is more than thirty times as big as any of our Western Provinces supports its millions by managing its individual affairs well. Thus the under-dog has become a top-dog.

Is there not in the French situation as thus disclosed a suggestion of value worthy of the thoughtful consideration of the producers and workers of other countries?

Here in America, in Canada as well as in the United States, every encouragement, indeed the most striking inducements, are held out to people in all walks of life to buy on the installment plan, rather than for cash.

Use of credit has become almost universal, not only for capital expenditures which is justifiable and proper if the borrowings are kept within reason, and the capital expenditures to which they are devoted are of a revenue-producing character, but for current expenses.

People are urged to buy not only necessities but luxuries on the credit plan, with payments spread over a term of months, or even years. The argument advanced is frequently to enjoy these luxuries now and while you are paying for them, rather than to wait until you have saved sufficiently to pay for them outright.

It is a fallacious argument, a fatal mistake to make. Complaints are fairly general that the banks will not extend credit at the present time. Possibly, however, the mistake by the banks in the past is that they extended too much credit too easily, coupled with the further mistake that they demand too high a rate of interest and thus make it next to impossible for the borrower to ever get out of debt once he is landed in that position.

Many a man, both city residents and farmers, have told the writer that having got into debt to the banks or mortgage companies they had a long uphill struggle to get out. They found themselves working for these financial corporations to meet interest charges rather than for themselves. They vowed that once they got out of debt, they would never get in again, but rather would do without things until they could pay for them outright, tighten their belts, and carry on in the meantime.

It is the man who is carrying a load of debt, paying heavy interest charges annually, possibly on non-revenue producing expenditures made in the past, who finds himself in real difficulty in times of business depression. Any little cash he can get must be paid out again to keep himself solvent.

Instead of being available to carry him along until the tide turns again, but the man who has followed the policy of "pay as you go," who is free of debt, is the man who can meet the storm. Such a man can "carry on," but the man already heavily in debt finds himself in the predicament of going in still deeper, and the final result is, all too frequently, that he finds himself in an impossible position, so deep in fact that he can never get out.

Is the French way not the better way? Does it not make for greater contentment, a more consistent measure of good times, a more enjoyable, happier existence?

Miss Theresa M. Ravary, Gillingtown, Ont., writes: "I was troubled, for almost a year, with my heart and nerves, especially on retiring at night when I would be unable to sleep for hours. I was easily fatigued, and became very excitable and irritable. A friend recommended Milburn's Heart Pills, and after taking them for a few weeks I could sleep a good night's rest, and rapidly regained my former state of health."

End Of Communism

McGill Economist Sees Soviet Despotism Followed By Human Nature

"Russia is going to break. Communism will prove unavailing, the five-year-plan is doomed to failure, and the greatest despotism and tyranny that the world has ever seen will be foisted by human nature," declared Dr. Stephen Leacock, head of the department of political economy of McGill University, addressing the junior-board of trade of Montreal recently on Communism.

The professor issued a warning that police batons were not the correct means of destroying Communism in Canada. "The needs of the people which lead them to seek after anything new must be satisfied at the first and only step required to do away with this evil," he said, referring to Communism in this country.

What was going to happen to Canada and other parts of the western world after Russia's five-year-plan failed, Dr. Leacock asked. "Are we going to sit back and condemn Communism and do nothing to cure the evils of present-day civilization? Are we to permit Russia to set us and the rest of the world an example in energy and determination in the exploitation of their country?"

Military Medal Law Revised

Holders Of V.C. Cannot Be Automatically Deprived Of Decoration

Holders of the celebrated Victoria Cross, highest award for gallantry in Britain's army, will not, in the future, be automatically deprived of the medal if convicted of treason, cowardice, felony or any other infamous crime, as has been the case in the past.

This important change is one of the new provisions governing military medals announced in the London Gazette. It is stipulated, however, that the award of the V.C. may be cancelled by the King who may restore the decoration, if and when, the recommendation for annulment is withdrawn.

A Dangerous Weapon

Germany Is Replacing Beer Steins With Paper Cups

Beer mugs always have been dangerous weapons in Germany. But the longer political arguments break up with the air filled with flying beer mugs. The Berlin police have issued an order that when politicians get together there shall be no stein on the table, but paper cups instead.

This going to remove a good deal of the dramatic from Berlin café gatherings. But it should bring relief to overworked hospitals, which usually have a number of injured to patch up after a Fascist or Communist meeting. No much of a dent in the human anatomy can be made with a paper cup.

Scotland Boosting Aviation

Dundee, Scotland, recently held an informal publication over the first business transaction carried out there by aeroplane. A business man had flown from Glasgow, landed in a field near Dundee, completed his deal and within an hour was on his way back by air. As a result of this, Dundee is joining the movement to provide an airport for every city in Scotland.

The worms that infect children from their birth are of two kinds, those that find lodgment in the stomach and those that are found in the intestines. The latter are the most destructive, as they cling to the walls of the intestines and if not interfered with work havoc there. Miller's Worm Powders dislodge both and while expelling them from the system serve to repair the damage they have caused.

A lady much above the usual size, trying to enter a street car, a passenger, who was waiting to get off, began to laugh at her futile efforts.

The passenger retorted, "Madam, if you were half a lady, I wouldn't need any help."

New Canadian Destroyers

Two New Vessels To Be Added To Canadian Navy

Delivery of the first of Canada's new destroyers, H.M.C.S. Saguenay, will be made to this country very shortly. A number of tests have still to be made, but it is expected that a Canadian crew will be put on board the warship soon, and she will finally pass into the hands of the naval service of this country.

For the most part the ship's company is already in England. From time to time in the past few months Canadian bluejackets have proceeded to the United Kingdom on courses of instruction in the Royal Navy, nearly 200 officers and ratings are thus ready to take over the new destroyers as soon as they are delivered from Thornycroft's.

The second vessel, H.M.C.S. Skeena, will be turned over about May 20.

The new destroyers are the last word in construction of that type of vessel, incorporating many features that have been developed since the war. Specifications called for a speed of 35 knots, but in her trials "Saguenay" exceeded that. For why? Not because the ship is equipped with turbine engines. Their arrangement comprises four 4.7 gun and two 4-tube torpedoes. About 100 to 150 tons of armaments constitute the ship's company.

California Protects Its Fruit Industry

May Prohibit Banana Imports So People Will Eat Home Grown

The State Legislature of California is seriously considering the prohibition of the import of bananas. For why? Not because the banana is grown in California and so the import of the foreign-grown banana would interfere with the home market. The argument for prohibiting the importation of bananas is in the logic of the protectionist. The eating of bananas as the protectionists of California see it, means less eating of peaches and other fruit grown here. So the eaters of bananas have to curb their simple appetite when it comes to their favorite fruit. To make it all the easier for them to do so, the legislature of California is to ban bananas in California if the legislators of California are to have their way.—Lehninger Herald.

Big Business In Farm Machinery

Nearly 100,000 Tractors Sold In Western Canada In Past Twelve Years

Nearly 100,000 tractors have been sold in Western Canada in the past twelve years, and of this total, more than half went to farmers in Saskatchewan. In the past five years, Saskatchewan farmers have purchased 6,000 combines and the total for the West in that period was 9,000. Out of the 2,046 tractors sold in the West in 1930, 826 were bought in Saskatchewan.

Proposes New Study For Canadian Schools

First-Aid and Home Nursing Useful Subjects, Says Colonel Hodgketts

First aid and home nursing should be made subjects in public schools, declared Col. C. A. Hodgketts, director-general of the St. John Ambulance Association, at the annual meeting of the organization in Ottawa. This type of training would, he said, be more useful than "some of the trifle" now being taught.

The year 1930 was described as surpassing all other years in the history of the association. In the various courses, 23,988 persons took part and proficiency certificates were awarded in 12,858 cases. Certificates and awards had a grand total of 19,745. The annual report was presented by Hon. J. H. King, president.

Rubber Wheels For Dining Cars

The possibility of rubber dining car wheels is being studied in France by representatives of the principal French railways. Experiments are being conducted on a branch line in St. Florent. Gasoline-driven engines with rubber tires have been operating for several months, and experts believe that their adaptation for passenger cars will lessen noise, shocks, and deterioration of the rails.

A Hazardous Calling

Many Movie Actors Lose Lives In Making Pictures

Packing thrills and realism into the movies is fraught with deaths and accidents as tragic and thrilling as the scenes depicted. During the last five years, fifty-five actors, extras and studio workmen have lost their lives in making pictures, and scores of others received permanent or temporary injuries in the effort to provide "naturalism" for movie fans. In addition, the California state industrial-accident commission paid out $421,459 to members of the motion picture industry for deaths and accidents arising in the course of employment.

Giant X-Ray Tube

Will Be Used In the Treatment Of Cancer Patients

A giant X-ray tube, developing 600,000 volts, has been developed at the California Institute of Technology, for treating patients suffering from cancer, a formal statement issued by the Institute announced.

The statement added that "As Dr. Robert A. Milliken has previously stated, the institute does not profess to have discovered a new cure for cancer; the principal hope is that, if results are favorable, other tubes of similar type will be placed in operation in hospitals in other sections of the United States."

CHAPTER XIII. Continue.

She stooped, notwithstanding, dropping a kiss on Martha's flaxen head.

"Thank you," said Mr. Halliday, "thank you for that, and—everything!"

"Then he, too, stooped above the child."

"I'm going to leave you here to play with Nick and Sonny, little girl. I'll come back soon."

She lifted a tear-stained face and would have clung to him had not Gay called her attention to the tower the boys were building.

"I'll show you how, little Martha," said Sonny with impudence. "I'll make a house 'most big enough for you to live in."

"Go now," Gay whispered, seeing that the child was occupied, and Halliday turned away.

He went straight to Angela's room. She stood almost where he had left her, and, closing the door, he faced her sternly.

"Angela," he began, "there are guests in the house, and I cannot say what I would say otherwise. There must be no scene; but once before I warned you to curb your temper. Do you remember why?"

She shrank from him, but he felt her

relinquently, and though she tried to look away the cold gleam of his grey eyes held her own white ones might have counted ten. Then through the open window was broke the sound of childish laughter—the tension of those clashing glances broke, and the woman regained her peace.

"Aren't you a little melodramatic, my dear husband?" she asked, shrugging. "After all, it was only a cat."

Halliday turned.

"Next time it may be a child," he replied sternly, and left the room.

CHAPTER XIV.

Angela's guests stayed but a short time, though, little Martha, who disapproved of, James Halliday tried his utmost to be agreeable, and make them forget the awkward moment of their arrival. He even suggested a small dinner to which their next door neighbors were invited, and at which Gay appeared in a charming, sea-green gown that seemed her, looking to stare almost rudely in surprise.

Angela thought she had taken Gay's measure when she described her as "that dowdy little thing next door."

Now, watching Halliday's interest in her as he talked with their surprisingly appearing guest, she wondered if by any chance she had been mistaken. Since the days of her own courtship she had never seen a man so hand-tried a woman just that way.

The sight pleased her—not because she had any romantic feeling left for Halliday, but because she had thought him incapable of being so interested.

There might come a time, she thought vividly, when the knowledge of that interest would be a deadly weapon in her own hand. The thought brightened her eyes, making them even more blue and luminous than before. Her husband saw it, and wondered why, what new trouble was brewing for himself; yet, later, when in the cool of the dimly lighted living-room, Angela sang, her voice might have been part of some celestial choir.

"How gloriously that woman sings!" said Nick, when he and Gay came in that evening together across the garden. "She seems to forget everything, and everybody, and give herself up to the expression of her real self."

"Yes," said Nick, "and her lovely voice of giving them life. I felt like a fool when she made me try that duet with her, my dear."

"You needn't have. Your voice isn't trained like hers, but at least it's sincere."

"Sincere? What do you mean?" Gay drew a quick breath.

"You wouldn't understand if I told you," said Nick, "but I mean 'You-who' Am I really so dense as that?"

"Not in everything, Nick."

"Thanks," Nick laughed, and as they reached the porch, sat down in the hammock and drew her down beside him. "Let's stay here a while and enjoy the moonlight. I don't like those aspersions on my mentality. Why should my thinking be more sincere than Mrs. Halliday's?"

Gay was thoughtful for a moment before she answered: "I can't help feeling that she's playing a part, Nick, and somehow I don't care for her friends."

"They're not exactly our sort—a bit staid and world-wide perhaps, though the woman had one lucid interval when she told me about her little girl. They must be Halliday to drink. He may be a cynic, but he has brains in his head. Still, I think you're unjust to the fair Angela. I bet those things Julia told you have stung in your crop, Gay, I think you've made an impression on Halliday! He acted tremendously interested in you tonight."

"What an idiotic thing to say!"

"If you're not careful, Madam, Nick retorted. 'I shall sue you for slander. That's the second insult you've handed me in fifteen minutes. Besides, he'd have been the idiotic one if he hadn't noticed you. You had those other women looking like tinns in a jewelry shop."

A sudden smile lighted Gay's eyes. She said: "That's what I meant about the difference in your voice and Mrs. Halliday's."

"I don't quite—get you."

"I said you wouldn't, didn't I?" Nick grinned.

"I believe you set that trap for me, my dear. But you'll have to admit that her voice is beautiful."

"Oh, I do! But unless there's a beautiful soul behind it—"

She hesitated, flushed and added: "That's the trouble with you."

Gay paused again, and her husband said: "with a tender smile for her face: 'Are you implying that, that my soul is superior to my neighbor's?'"

"Yes," answered Gay seriously. "I am. Oh, Nick, I know you'll care me silly, but I do wish you'd be care-

INGESTION

Banished by Kruschen

"I suffered for some years from a bad stomach. I used to feel very miserable after meals. The doctor advised me to take a laxative, but it did me no good. I decided to try Kruschen's Salts. I took a box, and have done so for the last 12 months, and I am very glad to tell you that my stomach is now in perfect order. I feel as young as in spite of it was 20 years ago, thanks to Kruschen's (W.V.) You know how badly an engine runs when it gets clogged up. It's the same with your body when your bowels are not in perfect order. You need a tonic—Kruschen's Salts—Xanthin's six mineral salts."

You get all these six salts in Kruschen's. The first effect of these salts is to promote the flow of the saliva and so awaken the appetite. The next action occurs in the stomach, where the digestive juices are encouraged to pour out and act upon the food in the bowels. In the end, certain of these salts promote a further flow of bile which aids in the digestion of food and prepare it finally for absorption into the system.

FREE TRIAL OFFER

If you have never tried Kruschen's, try it now. We will send you a box of our famous "GIANT" capsules which make a most effective and pleasant laxative. No obligation on your part. Simply return the box to us in the enclosed return slip.

Your druggist is authorized to return the box to us. Or, if you prefer, you may send it to us directly. Write to: Kruschen's Salts, 1700, Importers: McEldowney Bros., 1700, Toronto.

How you act with Mrs. Halliday. I don't trust her. Call it jealousy if you like, but it's not that, it's a stink. There's I wish I hadn't said that. There's been on the end of my tongue for months. I knew you'd laugh."

"I'm not laughing," he protested, though he was shamelessly and obviously amused. "My mouth just naturally turns up at the corners! But, as I've said before, I don't think you do the woman justice. If she's not happy with that man (honestly, I don't think she is), she'd naturally take more interest in other men than that woman's woman, who was satisfied with her own. Don't you believe that, Gay?"

"Perhaps—but but there's such a thing as legitimate jealousy, you know."

Nick did laugh now.

"Oh, no you don't!" broke in Gay hurriedly. "You don't see at all! I'm angry. I'm horrid. Perhaps I'm jealous because I can't sing with you as she can. I've always wished that I could sing. But I'm sorry I said anything if you've misunderstood me."

Her voice trembled, and Nick drew her suddenly close.

"Sometimes, dear old girl, you're just plain foolish. What's a voice, compared with the thing that makes you sing off your nose and stomp and go wading with a fellow? I don't say I don't love to wade every minute, or that I don't like to see your feet in those neat little slippers, or that I don't like to see you wearing; but neither could we go through life eternally believing that that's right—because if Angela's been idiotic it's the lady in my arms. Won't she admit it?"

"I suppose I am; but somehow, when I watched you tonight and saw how—how terribly attractive you are—"

"Have you just found it out?" Nick asked, laughing, and lifted her with him. "In any case don't let it worry you, because you're the only woman of my acquaintance who's sufficiently astute to discover the pleasing fact. That's a corking moon, my dear. I could sit here all night; but as the older father of a family that's liable to wake. Let's go up."

It was next morning that Angela's guests departed. Halliday, in an endeavour to appease his wife for what he knew she considered his unpopularity.

"Sandy," he said, "the accountant is leaving, and I'm going to take your job."

The young bookkeeper's face lit up with expectation.

"Thank you, sir," he replied. "And what will the salary be now?"

The manager shook his head.

"The more as you're resigning, but you'll have a hat-peg to yourself now," he returned.

Claim Is Disputed

Gray's Elegy Not Written At Stokes Pages Is Written

The churchyard of Stokes Pages, in Buckinghamshire, England, is generally supposed to have been the scene which inspired Gray's famous "Elegy," but the claim was disputed last year in a book published by the Clarendon Press, and written by Mr. Francis Stokes, and mayor of Thame, about a mile from Canterbury Cathedral, in Kent, England, stands apart from other claimants as being the only locality, on behalf of which direct evidence can be produced. Mr. S. Gordon Wilson, rector of Thame, and mayor of Canterbury, writes in the "Guardian," that Mr. Stokes was quite correct.

He says that Gray took much interest in the Benet's illustrations of the poems in 1713, and asks: Is it not strange that all the ruins of an ancient abbey are shown, such as St. Augustine's Abbey, Canterbury, could show, but nothing at all like the Stoke churchyard, which has never been heard about Stokes Pages churchyard, but the curfew had rung nightly for many centuries from Bell Harry Tower, Canterbury Cathedral, over the meadows to Thame, to a mile away.

Worth Of A Good Rain

Is A Million Dollars If It Comes In Right Season

What is a good rain worth? It is something the farmer of North Dakota knows. J. B. Kincaid, weather man of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, says one good rain this year from May to August has not been a "million dollar" rain, but a 17 million dollar rain.

Using the rainfall records from May to July, he found that one inch of rainfall in North Dakota produces about six million bushels of oats, nearly three million bushels of barley, nearly one million bushels of potatoes, more than a half million bushels of flaxseed, about nine million bushels of wheat and more than 125 thousand tons of hay, to say nothing of track grasses and other crops.

La Grippe and "Flu" are Spreading

"Flu" First Appears as a Sore Throat, but Gains Tremendous Headway in Six Hours

AN EFFECTIVE TREATMENT DESCRIBED

Nearly every case of "Flu" starts with a simple cold. At first the throat is sore—often just a little hoarse—soon the infection goes lower—then the chest is affected. A safe plan is to gargle the throat three times daily with "Nerviline"—this will keep the throat free from germs. If there is any sign of tightness in the chest, rub on Nerviline—every drop penetrates deeply—ergasms will be relieved—the cold will break up quickly. Many a dangerous case of "Flu" can be avoided by this simple home treatment.

Experienced mothers know how valuable Nerviline is for Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, and the ills ailments that arise in every family. Nerviline in most homes is called "Mother's Best Friend" 35c at all dealers.

Cruise Around the World

Hinerary Of Cunard Line's "Franconia" Is Announced

The tentative hinerary for the Cunard Line's "Franconia" cruise around the world in 1930 has just been made public in a statement by Arthur Hadden, general passenger traffic manager of the Cunard Line in Canada, reveals a list of ports of call of striking diversity and attractiveness from the world cruise standpoint.

The fact that the "Franconia" is large enough for comfort at sea and yet not too large to enter most of the smaller harbours of the world opens a great many ports for her passengers which they would not be able to see were she larger. At the principal ports the "Franconia" is able to tie up in the docks, obviating the necessity of long and tedious rides in tenders from ship to shore.

Perhaps the most important new feature of the next year's cruise of the "Franconia" around the world will be an added port of call at Haifa, with more than three days allowed for her passengers to see the many historic and sacred places in Palestine. The call at Haifa will again be an included feature of the "Franconia" cruise, with stops at both Bulalee and Telok Pataeng planned for the 1932 cruise.

Other outstanding features of the "Franconia" cruise will be calls at Athens, Cap St. Jacques (for visits to Saigon and French Indo-China), Peking (for Bangkok), Macassar, in the Celebes, and Chingwaung (for Peking).

The Levelling Process

There are 150,000 fewer farmers in the United States, today, than there were in 1920. There are more of us each year who want to eat and fewer of us to provide the eatables. If this thing keeps on, such few farmers as remain their independent calling will be fully revalued for the careless way in which a few years ago "farmer" was a term of derision in the mouth of the city-dweller. Just another levelling process.

Canadian-Made Souffls

The habit of talking mist is not declining in Canada; in fact it is on the increase. In 1929 over 997,000 pounds were made, valued at $128,000, an increase of over 357,000 pounds in weight, and more than $38,000 in value compared with 1919. Canadian-made souffls are used for domestic consumption as it is not mentioned in the exports.

Little Helps For This Week

"Tribulation worketh patience, and patience experience, and experience hope."—Romans 5:3

Is the road very dreary? Patience! Yes, it is. But it is the way that leads to a reward. After night comes the morning. Just like a wee and dinna fret! The clouds have silver lining. Don't forget! And though he's hidden, still the sun is shining. Courage instead of tears and vain regret. Just like a wee and dinna fret!

"Be patient," said a Scotchman, reprovingly, to his little son. "What do you mean, father?" inquired the child. "Be a wee and dinna fret," replied the father, with a loving pressure on his shoulder.

Perfection Is Scarce

Artists Frequently Use Many Models To Produce Results

Many admirers of magazine covers often wonder how the artists secure such wonderful and perfect models to pose for their work and little do the public know the work required to turn out a beautiful subject. DIVERGENT VIEWS EXPRESSED IN COMMONS DEBATE

Ottawa, Ont.—Political leaders in Quebec Federal politics swung into action in the House of Commons. In continued debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne, Hon. Arthur Saupe, postmaster-general, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former minister of justice, expressed divergent views.

Mr. Saupe spoke first. It was his initial speech in the House of Commons, and his reception, especially when he spoke at some length in English, was hearty. He defended the government, reviewed what had been done to aid the unemployed and assist the farmer, and asked for cooperation of all parties to make the coming economic conference a success. He also remarked that in denouncing the action of the government in respect to Russia, the leader of the opposition was actually denouncing the Quebec government.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, veteran of 24 years in parliament, found in the last Imperial Conference the reason for criticism of the government. Mr. Lapointe, who has himself represented Canada at Imperial Conferences, censured Premier R. B. Bennett for the mercenary spirit which he claimed had animated him in his negotiations.

"The British Commonwealth is an idea; it is a soul," asserted Mr. Lapointe. "To base it on a mercenary foundation is to invite disaster. The tie of sentiment is true, but it is strong. It may seem weak, it may be invisible to those who cannot see anything but the ledger, but this tie has proven equal to the test to which it has always been put in periods of trouble and difficulty."

Mr. Lapointe had criticism for Mr. Bennett in the ground of interference in British domestic policy.

"To force protection upon Britain, as the prime minister of Canada tried to do, was not only having the Empire on an economic fallday, but it was interfering in the most direct way with the domestic policy of the United Kingdom," charged the former minister of justice.

Mrs. Agnes MacPhail, Progressive member for Southeast Grey, and the only woman member of the House of Commons, followed Mr. Lapointe.

In his speech Mr. Saupe had made direct reference to Miss MacPhail. He said that the arguments advanced by her in speeches had been of such a nature as to induce me to excuse her for the stand she has taken toward resistance by the province to the granting of the franchise to women.

"In fact," added Mr. Saupe, "I am coming more and more to an acceptance of the idea of the granting of this franchise."

Drill For Oil

Winnipeg, Man.—It is understood here that an oil company, name unknown, will expend $250,000 in testing property in the town of St. Boniface, adjacent to Winnipeg, to ascertain if oil exists in the district. It was reported that a 40-day operation has been let by the St. Boniface council on a block of 14 acres at a price of $2,000 an acre.

No Change In Construction Program
Prince Albert, Sask.—There will be no change in the $5,000,000 construction plans of the Canadian Pacific Railway in northern Saskatchewan, it was emphatically declared here by D. C. Coleman, Winnipeg, vice-president western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway.

Wolves Terrorize Settlers

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.—Wolves in large packs, coming down from the hills in Broom township, east of the city, are becoming such a menace around the scattered settlements that businessmen and others no longer go into the woods except in numbers, according to word received here recently.

Disorders In India

Campanero Troops Shoot Down 30. High Nationalists. Karachi, India.—Terrorist broke out again in India as Mahatma Gandhi, for the Nationalist Congress meeting, was jerryed by Congress, and troops at Campanero shot down at least 30 rioting Nationalists.

The disorders grew out of the execution last week of three Indian convicted of the murder of a 21-year-old police official in 1928. Gandhi was taken off a train 12 miles outside of the town, and the thousands gathered here for the congress meeting spotted him as he rode into town in an automobile.

A group of 30 or more, known to be of Congress leaning, made for him with jeers and one even made as though to attack the frail little man with a flag staff. Some carried a tray with a gruesome mess of mud and blood, which they threw.

"Here is the blood of our brothers who were murdered," they cried, and they threw the three executed Indians. "Take it back with your true to Delhi."

Gandhi's men drove off the assailants, and there were cheers for Mahatma. The day at Campanero was even more serious. Rioting began during the night when Moslem shop-keepers refused to close their stores under a general strike order by the congress men. Troops came down when the fighting got serious, and before the worst was over, 30 had been killed, and at least 100 injured.

The trouble too, grew out of the executions.

Must Serve Sentence

Sixteen-Year-Old Farm Boy Falls In Pool And Dies. Higher.

Toronto, Ont.—Robert Klovski, 16-year-old farm boy, must serve his sentence of five years at the Stony Mountain penitentiary and receive 20 lashes as imposed by Magistrate Crook for the holding-up and robbing of the Dominion Bank at Port Francis, Ontario, February 11 last. This was the decision of the First Appellate Court of Ontario, at Osprey Hill, Toronto.

Following the decision of the court, the boy was sentenced to the "house of correction" at Port Francis, Ontario, for the young prisoner.

Youthfulness of the prisoner which brought forth a "popular clamor" following the sentence, did not appear to have any effect on the court, chief justice, Sir William Mulock, declared in announcing their judgment.

To Dispose Of Wheat

Senator Bora Would Donate Surplus Wheat In United States To China

Washington, D.C.—Old suggestion that the surplus wheat held by the National Grain Stabilization Corporation, amounting to over 200,000,000 bushels, should be turned over to China, was made by Senator William E. Borah.

This action would require an act of Congress. Wheat held by the corporation has been bought and paid for, and the policy of the Farm Board is that it should not be given away.

Borah's idea was that a gift of the wheat to China would create an appetite for wheat bread among the 400,000,000 Chinese which would result in largely increasing the market for wheat in that country.

Well-To-Do Farmers

Toronto, Ont.—The well-to-do middle class farmer had by no means disappeared. Hon. Duncan Marshall, former Minister of Agriculture in Alberta, told a meeting of advertisers and salesmen here when discussing farming conditions in western Canada. He believed that present difficulties would be overcome by the farmers. Generous loans to farmers by bankers at low rates of interest were a necessity, however, by him.

Followed Nurse Cavell

Brussels, Belgium.—It was belatedly learned here that Miss Anna Schott, 56, who gained fame as a nurse in the Great War, died March 21. Miss Schott-Jones, named the nurse of the English nurse, Edith Cavell, shot as a spy by the Germans during the war. Following Miss Cavell's execution, she assisted Allied soldiers to cross the Dutch frontier.

Will Entertain Governor-General
Ottawa, Ont.—Canada's new governor-general—the Earl of Bessborough—will be the guest of honor on April 8, at a dinner tendered by Premier R. B. Bennett. Members of the government, the leader of the opposition, and members of the private council will attend the function.

Man Without a Country

Department Of Immigration Devises To Admit Radinski To Canada

Ottawa, Ont.—John Radinski, referred to as the man without a country, will be admitted to Canada, the Department of Immigration has decided. When he was stopped at the Detroit-Windsor border some weeks ago, his case excited considerable public comment because not only did the United States refuse him entry, but he was not Canadian. The order permitting him to enter this country went forward recently.

Radinski came to Canada in 1914. In 1923 he went to United States, where he married an American woman. They had two children, whom, after his wife's death, Radinski sent to Canada to the home of his parents. It was when he sought to follow them back to this country that he was stopped by immigration authorities.

SIR JOSIAH STAMP APPOINTED HEAD OF GRAIN INQUIRY

Ottawa, Ont.—One of Britain's leading economic experts, Sir Josiah Stamp, has recently been appointed head of the royal commission to inquire into grain trading in Canada. Premier R. B. Bennett told members of the House of Commons that Sir Josiah will sail this week for Canada.

It was known that the British economist had been invited to represent the Dominion Government, but the recent announcement carried the first intimation that he had accepted the post. The royal commission is to consist of three members, one of whom will represent the Grain Exchange and another is to be chosen by the prairie provinces to represent the farmers.

Stamp has associated the name of Premier J. E. Brownlie with the position of grain growers' representative, but Mr. Brownlie has denied that he would accept the post. Sir Josiah Stamp has for many years been regarded as an outstanding expert in financial matters. He has had a distinguished academic career and has frequently represented the British Government on financial commissions. In 1904 he was member of the British royal commission on income tax.

In 1924 he was a member of the committee on taxes and national debt, and in the same year was British representative on the Dawes reparations commission. His most recent task has been to seek means of accomplishing economic co-ordination of British railways and Canada.

Appointment of the royal commission has followed expressions of opinion in Western Canada that "trading in grain futures is detrimental to the best interests of the producers."

Present indications are that work of the commission will be confined to an investigation of this subject, although it appears possible the scope of the inquiry may be extended to include whole questions of marketing of the wheat crop.

Less Unemployed

London, England.—The number of unemployed persons in Great Britain on March 16, was announced by the government recently, as 2,420,625, a decrease of 52,104 under the previous month. The total figure is 1,017,875, more than at the same time last year.

Express Train Leaves Track

One Life Lost and Fifteen Injured In Wreck Near Swift Current

Winnipeg, Man.—Swift travelling Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train No. 3, westbound, hit a broken rail near Swift Current, Sask., and five cars, including four sleepers, plunged from the rails, down a 15-foot embankment.

There was one fatality—67-year-old Cleveland man, Manning P. Fisher, who with his family was en route to Vancouver from where he was to have sailed for China on a holiday. His death was attributed to shock. He died shortly after the derailment. Mrs. Fisher and a 23-year-old son escaped injury.

"Thirty" owner passengers occupants of sleepers and two members of the dining car staff, were cut and bruised when thrown from their berths. All escaped serious injury.

Regina Winter Fair

Three Grand Champions and Reserve Champions Ruling at Show

Regina, Sask.—Three grand champion stallions were named at the Regina Winter Fair. These were: Clydesdale, "Larchmont," owned by John Falconer, of Gowan, Sask.; Percheron, "Colmar," owned by C. M. Pear, of Regina, Sask.; Belgians, "Gallant," owned by C. M. Pear.

The reserve championship in Clydesdale stallions went to H. H. Hudson, of Winnipeg, grain authority, whose charges made to Premier John Bracken brought about the resignation of the commissioner.

Under the compromise ruling agreed to by all counsel, the Pool elevators will file documents, and operators will be permitted to make immediate cross-examination of witnesses. The same ruling will apply to the Pool elevators, according to the filing of documentary evidence.

Mr. Murray, who charged extravagance in the operation of pool elevators, and under-grading to the detriment of the farmer shareholders, was in attendance at the session.

In the country there are 11,900 farmer shareholders, operating 150 country elevators, who are vitally interested in the probe, which is expected to last at least three weeks.

Both sides made clear that "a complete picture" of the pool elevators operations must be presented.

Mr. Murray, senior counsel for the pool, feared it was the intention of Mr. Hudson to call officers and employees of the elevators only to substantiate the charges, and not to bring out the complete facts relevant to the whole case.

A wrong impression might be created with the examination of only one side. Mr. Murray, senior counsel for the pool, feared it was the intention of Mr. Hudson to call officers and employees of the elevators only to substantiate the charges, and not to bring out the complete facts relevant to the whole case.

"Confidence of shareholders is the life blood of the Pool Elevators Limited," he said. "It must be maintained."

J. T. Thomson, C.K. associated with Mr. Hudson, declared it was not intended to create any unnecessary distrust of the minds of shareholders. Everything must be presented in detail, not summaries, and not piecemeal.

May Increase Postal Rates On Newspapers

To Help Lower Deficit Of Post Office Department

Ottawa, Ont.—Voicing a protest against the projected increase of postal charges on second class mail matter, a delegation of over 20 members of the Canadian National Newspaper and Periodicals Association conferred here with Hon. Arthur Saupe, postmaster-general.

The government has had before it for some time the proposal to increase the mail rates on second class mail matter, under which category are included newspapers and periodicals. For the current fiscal year the deficit of the post office department will likely range between five and six million dollars, and the proposal to raise the rate on newspapers has been advanced in an effort to overcome some of that deficit.

Would Repeat Dry Law

Illinois Senate Passes Bill Repealing Prohibition

Springfield, Ill.—The Illinois Senate recently passed the bill repealing the state's prohibition enforcement laws. This measure, already passed by the House, now goes to the governor. The vote was 26 to 24.

The bill would repeal the state prohibition laws, under the Search and Seizure Act. In effect, it would draw all state support from the Federal Government in fighting illicit manufacture and traffic in intoxicating liquor.

MANITOBA POOL ELEVATOR PROBE IS UNDER WAY

Winnipeg, Man.—Surrounded by prominent counsel, including T. J. Murray, C.K., authority on the legal aspects of co-operative marketing, T. J. Murray, senior counsel for the Pool Elevators, announced a royal commission investigation into the operations of the Manitoba Pool Elevators Limited.

Procedure to be adopted in presentation of evidence has been settled. Commissioner Williams gave a compromise ruling which will permit Pool counsel to present documentary evidence, and in special cases, evidence of company officers in explanation of financial reports submitted.

It had been the intention of Mr. Murray and his associate counsel, Travers Sweetman, K.C., to present oral testimony on each document submitted, but this was objected to by H. H. Hudson, K.C., representing the Pool Elevators. Winnipeg grain authority, whose charges made to Premier John Bracken brought about the resignation of the commissioner.

Under the compromise ruling agreed to by all counsel, the Pool elevators will file documents, and operators will be permitted to make immediate cross-examination of witnesses. The same ruling will apply to the Pool elevators, according to the filing of documentary evidence.

MARKET BOARD FOR WHEAT RECOMMENDED

Winnipeg, Man.—Establishment of a permanent Canadian marketing board was urged in the Manitoba legislature by Hon. J. H. Thompson, minister of education. Answering criticism of wheat pool operations, Mr. Hoy contended that a permanent marketing board would have a vital and direct relationship to the recovery of agriculture in the west.

He also proposed, in speaking on the second reading debate on ratification of government pool loan guarantees that quality production should be insisted on and that products should be standardized from coast to coast.

Cash payment to the banks for the government's guarantee of the Manitoba Wheat Pool's indebtedness was urged by W. Sanford Evans, (Ind. Can.) minister. He advised the government to float a $200,000 bond issue and pay the banks a cash rather than to seek to carry the overdraft over a period of years.

Under such a plan, believed Mr. Evans, the government's guarantee of the Manitoba Wheat Pool's indebtedness would be a vital and direct relationship to the recovery of agriculture in the west.

Mr. Hoy, minister of education, replied spiritedly to Mr. Evans' statements, reviewing the formation of the pools and the action of Mr. Bennett as saying, at Regina, that the pools had followed the wheat policy under the circumstances. In coming to the government for aid in adversity, said Mr. Hoy, farmers were doing only what had been done by other industries in similar circumstances.

Tourist Traffic Slightly Less

Net Figures For 1934 Place Value At $108,000,000

Ottawa, Ont.—Despite falling out from 1929 tourist traffic still remains a decidedly prolific source of income to Canada. Figures for 1934, estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, place the value of tourist traffic at $108,000,000 as compared with $125,377,000 in 1929. The conclusion reached by the statisticians in the Bureau was that the depression, was only $28,000,000 less than 1929.

Automobile tourists from the United States increased in numbers, but apparently did not spend as much money. The estimated expenditure was $202,468,000 as compared with $215,377,000 in 1929. The conclusion reached by the statisticians in the Bureau was that the depression, was only $28,000,000 less than 1929.

Canadian tourists abroad also were watching their pocketbooks. Automobiles carried tourists to the United States who parted with $63,480,000, according to the estimate. This compared with $5,055,000 in the previous year. Total expenditure abroad of all Canadians is placed at $112,000,000 in the year of pooling shock situations.

Temperance Forces Dejected

London, England.—Italy, after their recent defeat in attempting to force prohibition into effect, maintain a cry of Parliament, the temperance forces sought to curtail liquor advertising which flows over towns and country throughout the Italy, but the House of Commons rejected the move by a vote of 102 to 112.

No Aid For Germany

Paris, France.—Denunciation of the commercial treaty with Germany and a decision to abstain from all financial aid constituted the possible policy of France toward Germany if the proposals in carrying out an economic pact with Germany, the League of Nations was informed in official quarters.

Canada Must Win World Championships

World Championships in 1937 will be won by farmers who recognize that the cleanest and best quality seed with the most careful cultivation was essential to the production of exhibition grain. While it is recognized that these things should apply to the whole crop area, concentration upon a small plot in the best place for creating an exhibit sample, if made a good one, will give a very definite and more care probably than it is possible to devote to the whole crop area—and this is the way to win the need it will not only provide good quality foundation stock for next year's seedling, but a winning sample for exhibition at
